Creative Cloud named user licensing starting late 2018

You are receiving this email because you are subscribed to UIT's public email list.

Adobe recently announced that, starting in late 2018, new versions of Adobe Creative Cloud will no longer be activated using serial numbers. Instead, named user licensing will be used.

Under the University of Utah's Adobe Creative Cloud campus agreement, several serial numbers are set to expire on November 30, 2018. Campus IT administrators affected by this change have been contacted with these instructions to transition users (faculty, staff and/or students) from serial numbers to named user licensing

If you have any questions, please contact Bill Lutz, vendor manager of the Office of Software Licensing, at 801-585-0768, or bill.lutz@utah.edu.
